You glorious throne rests on a foundation
of righteousness and just verdicts.
Grace and truth are the attendants who go before you.
O Lord, who are the people
who exult in the shout of worship,
for they walk in the radiance of your presence.
We can do nothing but praise you for joy all day long
for we know who you are and what you do,
and you've exalted us on high.
The glory of your splendor is our strength,

8:19 This is a prophecy about the nations who would one day calm the stormy seas. See Isaiah 43:2-7 and Isaiah 55:1-5.

...second poem—Great is His Promise
...You spoke to your prophets in vision
...saying—
I have found a mighty hero for my people.
I have chosen David as my king, my servant and I have exalted him.
I have anointed him as king with the oil of my holiness.

I will be strength to him, and I will give him
my grace to sustain him no matter what comes.
None of his enemies will get the best of him,
nor will the wicked one overpower him.
For I will crush his every adversary
and do away with all who hate him.
Because I love him and treasure him,
my faithfulness will always protect him.
I will place my great favor upon him,
and I will cause his power and fame to increase.

David's kingdom shall reach from the Mediterranean to the Euphrates River.
And he will come before me, saying—
You truly are my Father, my only God, and my strong Savior!
I am setting him apart, favoring him as my firstborn son.

I will make him like unto me, the most high king
in all the earth!
